Musician's Performing Art Classes

Musicians' Performing Arts Class offers music classes to young people, ages 7-17. Registration for summer classes will be held on June 21 & 28, Bldg. D, in the Fort Mason Center.

MPAC was formed in 1973 to provide free music instruction to San Francisco youth who might not be able to obtain it. With donated instruments and volunteer staff, it began as an experimental class at Glide Memorial Church. Modest funding enabled MPAC to offer classes in various youth and community centers during the past five years. 1978 was the year that MPAC found a home in the Fort Mason Center.

Due to grantsmanship pressures, there is a nominal registration fee of $15. Yet these classes are a bargain at twice the price, attracting students from all neighborhoods to boast a student population representational of San Francisco.
